CONGRESS VOTES STATEHOOD FOR HAWAII

Verna Thomas Wins District Spelldown

Spelling with a pose and confidence that belied her 14 years, Verna Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spear of Washingtonville, won the exempted village school spelldown Thursday night at Lincoln School in Lisbon.

Outlasting eight other champion spellers from Lisbon, Leetonia and Columbiana, Verna, an eighth grade student at Leetonia Orchard Hill School, won the match when she correctly spelled "wreath," missed by the next-to-last finalist, and the following word, "orchestra."

RUNNER-UP in second place was Jane Stockman, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Stockman of the Lisbon-Columbiana Road, a sixth grade student in Lisbon McKinley School.

Lynn Robinson, 14, an eighth grade student at Lisbon High School, was third. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Robinson of 516 W. Maple St., Lisbon.

For Verna, a slim, pretty brunette, the triumph came on her second try at the three-school bee in which she placed fourth last year.

She qualified for last night's contest by emerging first in a spelldown held at Orchard Hill School March 2.

HER VICTORY earns her the right to vie in the spelling bee district.

Dairy Supports To Be Retained

Benson Says No More Cuts Are Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — A decision of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson to make no further reduction in dairy price supports has political as well as economic implications.

In announcing this decision at a news conference late Thursday, Benson set forth at length what he termed economic justifications for retaining the present dairy supports. Under the law, he could have cut them about 3 per cent.

Some farm leaders expressed surprise. Benson already had lowered supports for a great number of products, including wheat, corn, rye, oats, barley, sorghum grain, soybeans, cotton, cottonseed, rice, peanuts, flaxseed, and dry beans.

Benson's philosophy has been that the way to head off surplus production of crops and milk is to lower supports. Lower prices, he says, tends to encourage greater consumption and to discourage excess production.

In the case of dairy products, Benson said an increasing population, a slight decline in milk production and in dairy products in recent months dictated retention of the present dairy floors.

A newsman asked if his decision was not influenced by politics. He said no, adding that he had been under no undue pressures.

Nevertheless, his action was likely to have some effect on a battle now going on between the administration and the Democratic-controlled Congress over farm legislation.

No other farm commodity is produced as generally throughout the country as milk. No other single commodity brings farmers as much cash. No single farm commodity normally exercises as much influence in Congress as milk. It has particular importance in Midwestern areas where Republicans lost heavily in last year's elections.

Cautions Against Reckless Cuts

Ike Asks $4 Billion Foreign Aid Outlay

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today for $3,930,000,000 in foreign aid. He said the spending is essential to survival in the face of a "growing Communist potential to launch a war of nuclear destruction."

In a special message Eisenhower cautioned against reckless cuts, lest the United States become "the richest nation in the graveyard of history."

The President said the full amount is urgently needed to thwart "a fanatic conspiracy of international communism" which maintains 6½ million men under arms in about 400 divisions around the world.

Singling out the Soviet drive to force the West out of Berlin, Eisenhower said: "In Europe today the Soviet Union has made demands regarding the future of Berlin which, if unmodified, could have perilous consequences."

"The resoluteness with which we and our allies will meet this issue has come about in large measure because our past programs of economic and military assistance to our NATO allies have aided them," he said, "to stand firm in the face of threats."

Speaking of the worldwide Red threat against free nations, Eisenhower told the legislators: "Two fundamental purposes of our collective defense effort are to prevent general war and to deter Communist local aggression."

"We know the enormous and growing Communist potential to launch a war of nuclear destruction and their willingness to use this power as a threat to the free world."

"We know also that even local aggressions, unless checked, could absorb nation after nation into the Communist orbit—or could flame into world war."

"The protection of the free world against the threat or the reality of Soviet nuclear aggression or local attack rests on the common defense effort established under our collective security agreements."

The sum requested is about 12 million dollars less than sought last year. It would continue massive military-economic assistance to some 70 friendly nations into a 13th consecutive postwar year.

Eisenhower's aid requests have been cut sharply in past years. Democrats, urging more spending than the administration plans on some domestic programs and the nation's own defenses, have been eyeing the foreign aid fund as a place to offset some of the increases.

Nearly 62 per cent of the new funds Eisenhower asked would go for military programs — military equipment and munitions including missiles and "defense support" as aid to nations which maintain big military forces of their own.

The remainder would go for development help, technical assistance and low interest loans, especially in Asia and the Middle East.

Eisenhower said special aid from one of these funds is needed for West Berlin which he described as "a solitary outpost of freedom back of the Iron Curtain."

Must Show Support "In addition to the firm support which we and our NATO allies have assured West Berlin in the face of current Soviet threat," he said, "it is important that we show our support of its people by continuing our economic assistance to that beleaguered city."

Storm Leaves Big Death Toll

Northeastern Part Of Nation Digs Out

By The Associated Press
A severe mid-March snowstorm which hammered the Northeast, crippling normal activities and leaving a heavy death toll, tapered off today.

The late winter storm, worst of the season, dumped more than a foot of snow in sections of New England and New York state. Light snow fell during the early morning in the extreme Northeast as the intense storm moved out into the Atlantic.

At least 24 deaths were attributed to the storm, which earlier had lashed areas in the Midwest.

Most of the deaths were attributed to heart attacks suffered while shoveling snow.

The storm was indirectly blamed for the deaths this morning of seven persons including five children, in a fire in snow-bound Easton, Maine. A father, five of his six children and one man perished in the blaze that destroyed their home in Easton, about 10 miles from the Canadian border. Firemen, hampered by huge snow drifts, arrived too late at the burning home of John Hersey to save the victims.

Huge cleanup jobs confronted the storm-battered sections. Strong winds which whipped the heavy snow covering into huge drifts slowed snow removal.

Falls ranged up to 22 inches in New Hampshire and Maine. The covering at Caribou, Maine, measured 34 inches, and was 26 inches at Rumford, Maine.

Fairfield-Waterford School Bonds Proposed

NEW WATERFORD — The Board of Education, at a special meeting Thursday night, passed a resolution to submit a bond issue at the Nov. 3 general election for a new centralized Fairfield-Waterford High School.

The bond issue is expected to be between $500,000 and $600,000. The building would be centrally located between both existing schools. Fairfield high school age students now attend New Waterford school.

Mrs. Lois Welch and Mrs. William Baughman, secretaries of the Fairfield and New Waterford schools, respectively, were appointed to take school enumeration when the New Waterford school board met Thursday night.

The board voted to increase the salaries of dramatic directors to $75 per play.

Walter DeSanti is the instructor.

Joseph Driscoll reported attending the convention of the National Association of School Administrators in Atlantic City last month. He presented a tentative program of study for the coming school year.

J. L. McBride, superintendent of Columbiana County schools, attended the meeting last night.

Spelldowns are being held today in the schools to determine winners for the district bee to be held March 20 at Fairfield School.

Macmillan, Adenauer End Talks

W. German, British Leaders In Accord

BONN, Germany (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer have reached full agreement on Berlin, the German question and European security, a German government spokesman said today.

The statement came after Macmillan and Adenauer wound up their talks at a morning session of more than two hours. Only an interpreter was present.

Macmillan arrived Thursday from talks with French President Charles de Gaulle in Paris. He goes to the United States next week for conferences with President Eisenhower.

Apparently the French and West German governments overruled any ideas the British may have had to ease the Berlin crisis by proposing a wholesale withdrawal of troops from central Europe.

Macmillan obviously sought to quiet West German fears that his recent mission to Moscow had raised the prospect of "disengagement" as an Allied policy.

Bonn press chief Felix von Eckardt told a news conference that the two heads of government were agreed on the procedures in the coming weeks.

"No differences exist," he said. British Foreign Office spokesman Peter Hope concurred.

The agreement followed a period of considerable German coolness and misgiving over Macmillan's visit to Moscow.

Some West German sources had indicated privately there was fear Macmillan might give way on some points other Western part-

One of Two Civil War Vets Near Death

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (AP)—John Salling, one of two surviving veterans of the Civil War, was waging the battle of his long life early today. Pneumonia closed in on the 112-year-old Confederate soldier.

Salling was brought to Munal Clinic, a private hospital here, from his home in Slant, Va., Thursday. Dr. John Munal confirmed the diagnosis, and said Salling was in very poor condition.

The only other survivor of the Civil War is Walter Williams of Houston, Tex., who was 116 on Nov. 14. He has been bedfast and in declining health for many months.

Two members of Salling's family — one a great-granddaughter 100 years younger than he — are in the same hospital. They are Mrs. Hobart Hawkins, wife of a grandson, who is recovering from recent surgery, and her daughter, Linda, 12, who is in good condition, also with pneumonia.

House Approves Measure by Huge Majority

Eisenhower Receives Bill Today; Islanders To Hold Elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Hawaiian Islands will become the nation's 50th state within the year. Congress answered the territory's half-century of pleading for statehood Thursday with a resounding 323-89 vote in the House. The Senate assented a day earlier with a 76-15 vote.

President Eisenhower gets the bill today. His approval is certain. Presidential secretary James C. Hagerty said the President is delighted.

Election To Be Set Up

In four to six months Hawaii could be a full partner in the union. It will take that long to set up elections for the nearly 600,000 people to choose their first state officers, their two U.S. senators and one representative in the House. Hawaii will qualify for a second House seat after the 1960 census.

There is a maximum time schedule set out in the state constitution which the people of Hawaii, tired of waiting, adopted in 1950. The maximum is 160 days between the date the President signs the bill and the date of the general election. The actual time could be less.

Gov. William F. Quinn, 12th and last presidentially appointed governor of Hawaii, said he is inclined to favor a schedule on the slow side. He said he thought that would be preferred by political leaders of both parties to get good candidates in the field. Quinn is a Republican and a candidate for governor. It is up to him to set the election dates.

John A. Burns, Hawaii's Democratic delegate to Congress, said he favored the shortest possible preliminaries to the ultimate proclamation of the President formally admitting the islands to statehood.

"Hawaiians are tired of living under the shackles of the appointive governor system," he said. Burns, undoubtedly a candidate for something, has not said which office he will seek.

Hawaiians will have other things to vote on, besides officers. They must decide:

1. Whether they want statehood. (they voted for it 2-1 in a plebiscite 19 years ago, but they must vote again.)

2. Whether to accept the boundaries defined by Congress. This excludes Palmyra Island, a tiny, privately owned, coral atoll 960 miles south of Honolulu.

3. Whether to accept the federal land grants and reservations specified in the statehood bill.

County Gets Deed For Kyes Residence

LISBON—The deed for the Lafayette M. and Myra E. Kyes home in East Palestine, recently donated to Columbiana County to be used as a juvenile receiving home, was presented Thursday afternoon to R. Max Gard, chairman of county commissioners, by Atty. Jack Cohen of East Palestine, executor of the estate of the late Attorney and Mrs. Kyes.

Roger M. Kyes of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., donated the home to the county as a memorial to his late parents after the boys and girls committee of the East Palestine Kiwanis Club began a move for utilizing the home last December.

Present at the deed presentation, besides Gard and Cohen, were Judge Louis Tobin; Walter Hunston of East Palestine and Frank Wilson of Wellsville, county commissioners; and Don Archibald, the chairman of the East Palestine Kiwanis Club's boys and girls committee.

A letter received by Judge Tobin from Roger M. Kyes was read, thanking the group for the way they handled his remembrance gift.

War Ends, Greek Underground Dissolves

EOKA Survived Through Cypriots' Aid

(Editors Note: With peace restored to Cyprus, members of the Greek underground fighting arm which kept the Mediterranean island in turmoil for four years are beginning to emerge into the open. How did this small force keep up to 30,000 British troops baffled all that time? Webb McKinley, Associated Press chief of bureau in Istanbul, has been on Cyprus nearly two weeks seeking the answer. Here is his report.

By WEBB MCKINLEY

NICOSIA, Cyprus, (AP) — EIOKA's war is over and the boys are heading home.

The wiry youths whom Britain so recently called terrorists now are hailed as heroes on the streets of Nicosia.

They do not look fierce. It is hard to imagine one padding silently along an alley, gun in hand, or waiting for the right instant to set off a land mine on a mountain road.

They look more like young clerks, accountants, students, electricians, lawyers or farmers — which in fact they once were.

333 Killed By EOKA

But the four-year war they fought in EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground, to free Cyprus from Britain was tough and ruthless. A total of 333 killings were attributed to EOKA. More than half the victims were Greek Cypriot civilians marked as traitors to the cause of Enosis, the union of Cyprus with Greece.

EOKA did not win Enosis. But on the advice of its leadership it accepted the plan for eventual independence for Cyprus.

The hatreds born in the struggle washed over into intercommunal fighting between Greek and Turkish Cypriots that took another 115 lives. All in all, including those killed by British security forces, the war left 601 dead and 1,260 wounded.

Battling Hopeless Odds

On the face of it, EOKA was battling hopeless odds. Its own hard core centered in the mountains probably never numbered more than 50 men, although the line of communication and part-time adherents ran into thousands.

How did EOKA do it?

The answer is Col. George Grivas, a Cyprus-born retired Greek army officer with the pseudonym of Digenis, who formed the underground, led it and has now disbanded it.

"Looking back on it," a British intelligence official mused after Grivas called off the battle early this week, "he was ruthless, absolutely fearless, and a good organizer to the nth degree. In fact, he was the sort of chap you would want on your side if you had to do the same thing."

Arrived From Rhodes

Grivas was 56 when he landed from Rhodes on the west coast of Cyprus the night of Nov. 9, 1954. Retired from the army in 1944, he had led a fanatically right-wing gotten a name for hardness and efficiency.

He was called to Cyprus to organize a militant force to support Archbishop Makarios of the Greek Orthodox Church in his campaign for Enosis.

He immediately began to search for potential leaders in the Cyprus youth movement, discarding as he went along those with inadequate hardness or zeal. By the time his campaign opened, on April 1, 1955, he had around him a band of tough young men forming EOKA's inner core, and a second echelon of couriers, paymasters, quartermasters, recruiters and informants.

Breakthrough Near

In the years that followed, EOKA had successes and some near disasters. By mid-1956, British intelligence was beginning to break through.

In March 1957, when EOKA appeared to be near defeat, with many of its top men dead or captured, Britain accepted a truce. But essentially, EOKA survived because it won almost complete support from the island's 400,000 Greek Cypriots, and because of its excellent organization and deadly discipline.

"We are all EOKA," the Greek Cypriot mayor of Nicosia once proclaimed.

On hundreds of occasions British troops would rush within minutes to the scene of a killing, only to find that the killers had vanished, furnished with escape routes by the populace. In the mountains peasants fed EOKA men and hid them.

Hawaii In Holiday Mood As Congress Votes Statehood

HONOLULU (AP) — Happy Hawaiians cranked up a second round of celebrations today for their newly acquired statehood.

Disregarding Friday the 13th, they planned a five-hour show at Honolulu Stadium featuring Hollywood entertainers and 200 grass-skirted lua dancers.

It was a holiday again throughout the islands, just as it was Thursday when Congress voted long-awaited statehood for the territory.

The day's program also called for a religious thanksgiving service in Honolulu and a big concert by the Royal Hawaiian Band, joined by the bands of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

Also on the program was a 50-gun salute to the 50th state fired by artillerymen from howitzers on Iolani Palace grounds.

Thursday's celebration began noisily within minutes after the House completed passage of the statehood bill.

It exploded in a discordant din of sirens, church bells, ship's whistles and motorists' horns.

At night there were street dancing, bonfires and fireworks.

Military planes dropped flares at sea off Waikiki Beach, the island's best known resort spot.

At Waikiki, throngs jammed the streets to see dancing by Tahitian, Samoan and Hawaiian maidens.

Light showers failed to dampen the festivities. Native Hawaiians, who regard rain as a blessing of the Gods, took it as a good omen for the newest state.

Service men at liberty joined the thousands crowding the Waikiki area. One serviceman carried a cardboard sign from his neck reading "Maryland welcomes Hawaii" and another held a sign which read "Iowa votes yes."

The largest bonfire was a towering blaze on an island adjoining Honolulu harbor. Logs from many states and foreign countries had been collected for the blaze.

Business Man Charged In Plot to Kill Wife

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wealthy business man Kris Albert is charged with offering a man $5,000 to kill his crippled wife.

Detectives said Miguel Angulo, a farmhand, told them Albert tried to hire him, saying, "She is very sick and it would be merciful to put her out of the way."

Pearl Albert, 46, a multiple sclerosis victim, said her husband once threatened her life and said she would be better off dead.

Albert, 46, of Beverly Hills, is free under $25,000 bond.

HONESTY'S BEST POLICY

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — One by one, five of the six men accused of shooting dice proclaimed their innocence Thursday before City Court Judge Beverly Boushe.

When it came George Drake's turn he hesitated and mumbled: "Well, I guess I'm the only one who was shooting."

Said the judge: "Drake, you can go. I'm finding everybody else for witnessing the first one — man dice game in history."

'THE JOURNEY' — Deborah Kerr and Yul Brynner star in "The Journey," a film story laid against the drama of the 1956 Hungarian revolt. The movie will be shown at the State Theater here Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The picture was filmed in Austria.

Lake Carriers' Assn. Raps Seaway Tolls

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Lake Carriers' Assn., which has been against any St. Lawrence Seaway tolls from the beginning, declared in a statement today the tolls are "a mistake which should be promptly corrected."

Lyndon Spencer, president of the organization, issued the comment after the rates had been announced in Washington. Members of the association are the operators of 95 per cent of the American ships on the Great Lakes, carrying iron ore, limestone, coal and grain.

The statement said the tolls are "a distinct threat to the economic well-being of the entire Great Lakes area."

It declared the tolls "will place western and midwestern producing areas at a competitive disadvantage with eastern sections, whose industries will receive vast quantities of foreign raw material through seaboard ports free of tolls."

Salem Man Faces Trial for Forgery

LISBON — The trial of Richard Emerson Braun, 27, of 585 Columbia St., Salem, charged with forgery, has been scheduled to start Monday morning, according to Prosecutor G. William Brokaw.

Brokaw was indicted by the January Grand Jury and pleaded not guilty at arraignment day Jan. 27.

He had been free on $5,000 bond prior to March 6 when the court released his bonding firm from bond. Unable to furnish another bond, Braun was confined in the county jail.

HEART OPERATION SET

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Doctors here will try today to correct a deformed valve in the heart of 11-year-old Michael Hayes, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Carroll Hayes of Willow Wood, Lawrence County. Eight regular and reserve marines in Huntington, W. Va., who supplied some of the 25 pints of blood needed for the operation, will be rooting for him.

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

"Famous Cripples of the Past"

The splendid accomplishments of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults are well known to all. The society's Easter Seal Campaign is now on, and I urge readers to support it.

History records may individuals who have gloriously overcome their physical handicaps. According to an article entitled "Famous Cripples of the Past," written by Dr. Bernard J. Ficara, there are numerous persons whose deformities or handicaps have been largely forgotten because of their accomplishments.

SCIENTISTS, philosophers, musicians, artists have all counted among their ranks illustrious cripples.

The famous Athenian philosopher, Socrates, had a deformity which included a malformation of the shoulder. The philosophers, Spinoza, Kant, Erasmus, Schopenhauer and Nietzsche were also afflicted. Plato was known to be a hunchback.

Among the deformed scientists was the famous English chemist, Humphry Davy, who had a limp. The English physicist, Robert Hooke, living in the 17th century, was described as being crooked and low of stature, and probably suffered from tuberculosis of the spine.

OF THE MUSICIANS, Mozart was deformed of body, probably due to the softening of his bones from rickets as a child. George Frederick Handel and Charles Gounod were both lame.

Even on the stage cripples achieved fame. Sarah Bernhardt lost one of her legs but this did not stop her stage career. David Garrick was known to have been deformed, though just what was wrong is not clear.

In the fields of arts and letters, according to Ficara, prominent cripples abounded.

Sir Walter Scott had trouble with one leg, probably as a result of infantile paralysis. He also acquired tuberculosis. Lord Byron suffered from a club foot. The English poet, Alexander Pope, was believed to have been a hunchback and dwarf. Charles Dickens was lame and Shelley was a deformed cripple. The French poet and novelist, Balzac, was also a cripple.

MANY FAMOUS statesmen and public figures were crippled. The first Frederick to be king of Prussia was a hunchback. Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, of World War I memory, was born with an arm deformity. These are only a few of those who achieved world renown.

Almost any physical deformity can be overcome by those who have the intelligence and grit to do so. Pity is out of place. The handicapped should be encouraged and given the opportunity to do what their abilities permit. Many handicapped contribute more to society than we who have no such excuse.

Clock-Watching Police Suspended Three Days

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Two clock-watching patrolmen were suspended for three days without pay today for neglect of duty.

Police Chief Anthony A. Bosch said Patrolmen Charles Hunt and Melvin Young investigated a two-car collision March 4, but reported off duty at 3:10 p. m. leaving the automobiles wedged in the intersection.

Other policemen happened by later to find traffic jammed up behind the wreck.

Before Standard Time was adopted in 1883, the railroads of the country were operating on as many as 100 different times.

Sticks and Stones But Not Words

One of the oddities of the times is the confident attitude of labor leaders telling Congress what to do this session.

These are the men who supposedly have been given something to think about by the disclosures of the McClellan investigation.

They are the men whose differences of opinion "inside the lodge" are expected to make more news for the nation and more grief for industrialists than anything in sight at the moment.

They are the men who have been forced to admit time and time again that they have only tenuous control over the organizations they speak for, yet who speak in the corridors and cloakrooms of the U. S. Capital with voices of thunder.

Congressmen, moreover, listen to them as if their word had become the judgment of Doomsday. Representatives who have been sent there to speak for the states call the labor leaders into consultation before making up their minds.

And the labor leaders, to make sure they are not forgotten, give orders to their followers to show up in Washington by the thousands to buttonhole the decision-makers of representative democracy, to tell them what a minority expects them to do — with no questions asked.

In the 1959 battle over labor reform, a White House bill is in danger of being pushed into the discard on the orders of men whose own affairs are in such a mess that the McClellan investigation could run on forever and never catch up to the abuses of unionism they have been unable or unwilling to stop.

"Sticks and stones can break my bones, but words can never hurt me."

This ancient chant has been brought up to date:

"Accusations and unanswered questions can give me a bad reputation, but they can never hurt me."

Is It Wrong to Be a 'Timid Soul'?

George Meany, the labor leader, is latest in a long line of critics blasting budget-balancing.

The United States needs so many things, he explains, that it would be shortsighted to put off getting them merely because they would throw the budget out of balance.

"To the timid souls who say America cannot afford to spend the money," he declared at the Annual Housing Conference in Washington on Monday, "we reply that America cannot afford to miss the opportunity. Let us match our faith in the future of our country against their fear. Let us build a better America."

In view of the fact there are enough "timid souls" around to give even the indomitable spokesman of the powerful AFL-CIO something to worry about, it needs to be made clear what they are timid about.

It isn't the idea of building a better America.

It is the idea of letting politicians and powerful lobbyists like George Meany spend public money they do not have the courage to collect — now or ever.

They talk glibly about "investing" in the future of America. But all they are willing to invest in the future of America is IOUs.

They stay clear of anything resembling a pay-as-you-go policy. They add their spending to the national debt, instead.

Now We Have the Phantom Satellite

The associate director of Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory at Cambridge, Mass., has suggested the possibility Discoverer I might not have been lost track of if its agency had been told in advance it was going to be launched from Vandenberg Air Force base.

He further has suggested that this frustrating kind of secrecy may be the result of rivalry between military services. It remains to be seen what reception will be given to his criticism. In the meantime, the United States is in a position to claim credit for the first phantom satellite.

It will take its place in folklore with phantom ships, lost regiments, wayward buses, railroad trains that were misplaced and the weird assortment of ghosts that inhabit the bureaus of missing persons in all cities. It will be the first of its kind but assuredly not the last.

Never has man had so much room to lose things in before.

Outer space is close to infinity, itself, which may be presumed to lie just beyond the outer space that now encompasses inner space. That first layer of space is where Discoverer I may go on and on, to no avail and to no end. It is up there somewhere, and that is all that can be said about it until at some future date reports of its unconfirmed existence will dribble into earthly circulation.

The Loch Ness monster, the Abominable Snow Man and the mysterious animals with feet like prehistoric monsters that customarily turn up on dull days will have their

Join the Red Cross

In national disasters or even closer to home you'll always find the Red Cross on the job, lending a helping hand to the unfortunate. In Ohio recently the mercy organization was on the scene when flood waters drove thousands of persons from their homes.

The Red Cross is always ready and waiting when needed. That is why it is important at this time of the year to renew your membership in the Salem Red Cross chapter.

The membership campaign starts Monday and enough members are needed to bring in $22,191 which will finance operations for the ensuing year.

Locally, the Red Cross dispensed assistance to 193 persons at an expenditure of $3,172, in addition to a multitude of other charitable projects. Under the Red Cross water safety program 212 persons qualified as swimmers and 83 others became first aid instructors. The Red Cross Bloodmobile was kept functioning.

Chairman James Wilson Jr. is hopeful that the goal will be reached within two weeks. You can assure that by joining right away.

Come spring and it will be hard to keep on working even on a soft job.

Once Over

("I don't know what a free press is. I have never seen one"—ex-President Harry S. Truman in a speech to a Missouri school of journalism.)

Dear Harry: If you don't know what a free press is and have never seen one you have the worst case of astigmatism in medical history. So here is a little help:

1. A free press is one that gives you all-out coverage even when you take a walk around the block and more free space after a breakfast of scrambled eggs in a big hotel than most men would get climbing Mt. Everest on a can of pemmican.
2. It is a press that has published your photo standing, sitting, reclining and "running" so often that, end-to-end, the pictures would go four times around the world.
3. It is the press through which you expressed deep humility and asked for prayers when first called to the White House. (Remember?)
4. The free press (which you say you have never seen) is an American institution which any ex-President should honor and not besmirch and belittle, especially in a time of world crisis.
5. It is an organization of good Americans striving as hard as you or anybody else to do its job well in the public interest. (Often losing money in the effort and never able to recoup through pensions, memoirs, magazine stories, etc.)
6. The free press you have never seen gives you more coverage when you get off a train on an unimportant journey than most notables get on missions of mercy and national preservation.
7. It is the press that has published miles of stories giving added color to your career from a Missouri farmboy, war veteran, drug-store clerk, haberdashery operator and small town politician to the highest office in America.
8. You need new glasses, Harry. Get a pair and try again. Maybe you can catch a glimpse of a press which has made you a world figure, glorified your courage, praised your spunk, covered your whistle stops and never made a speech saying it had never seen Harry Truman and wouldn't know him if it fell over him in an after-breakfast stroll.

PERRY COMO has been signed up for 25 million dollars. Perry has gone to the top through a relaxed routine, but there isn't 25 million dollars worth of placidity in all America. Mr. Como specialized in sweet songs of love and romance. The salary makes his life a story of "Romeo and Sponsorette."

Pakistan has sent an elephant to Arthur Godfrey, and nobody seems to know why. Maybe Pakistan saw Jackie Gleason on Art's program before he took off weight, and thought the Redhead could use a replacement.

Maturity Has Its Own Charms

Shallow Optimism

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower expresses some optimism about the Soviets, latest note over Berlin and Germany. Just how deep is the optimism? From an examination of all he said Wednesday it doesn't look very deep.

He was asked at his news conference what he thought of the Soviet acceptance of the Western proposal for a foreign ministers conference on Berlin and Germany.

He said, "we are taking it for the moment just as optimistically as we can." This, in view of what else he said, turned out to be a very restrained optimism.

It was, however, in keeping with the kind of international sigh of relief that went up when the So-

And How Are Things?

By TRUMAN TWILL

This is a plea for help. No one will heed it, and it's unlikely anyone will hear it.

But when a bunch of delegates to the World Press Congress at Columbia, Mo., said I should pay more attention to Latin American news, I got scared.

These fellows think I should have known more about Cuba than I knew when Batista was running things into the ground. They point out that I am in ignorance of South America—and they're right.

But if they want to set me right they will have to take their place in line.

First, I want to get straightened out about China and Japan, which have baffled me throughout my adult lifetime. Then comes central Asia. A fellow asked about Afghanistan the other day, and I couldn't tell him much about it.

When hell started to pop in a place called Nyasaland, I had to get out a map and my World Almanac to fix it in my mind. I didn't even know who was responsible for its existence.

I have not the foggiest notion how things are in Africa outside of Nyasaland, either. My African images are limited to sphinxes and diamonds. There are republics in Africa I never heard of and politicians whose names mean nothing to me.

I cannot even rattle off the names of the republics in the Soviet Union or the names of the historic characters who head up the puppet governments of Russia's satellite countries.

Nor do I have a working knowledge about the ebb and flow of public affairs in neighboring Canada and Mexico. Though I have promised myself a trip to Australia if anyone ever gives me the money, I couldn't draw a dependable map of that continent if my life depended on it.

There is talk going around about adding still another state—Hawaii—but I am still in ignorance about states already in the family. I cannot remember the name of the governor of New Mexico, for example.

The point is there's a limit to how thin a man can spread himself when everybody on earth wants a piece of his attention. And on top of everything else, everybody who wants to be well informed is expected to keep track of the hardware this country has hurled into outer space.

In each instance, moreover, there is a worry attached. It is never enough any more to say, "Ah Berlin. I'll bet the beer there is good." To show you know the score, you must wrinkle your forehead and rattle off the sequence of friction between your side and their side, with an educated guess about the probable outcome and whether the militarists will use big dirty bombs or little clean bullets.

It is too much for me. Hence the plea for help. I want someone to rescue me from my predicament. I do not really understand why people are cutting up one another in South America, Nyasaland, Cape Town, New Delhi or Old Heidelberg, and, I honestly don't care, because I believe there is nothing I can do in the future or could have done in the past to stop it. People will be people.

When this gets around, I am going to be closed in on by a legion of do-gooders and worrywarts who will scorch me for not knowing what is going on in Bolivia, Cambodia, Ghana, Kuwait, Liberia, Nepal, Tibet and Vietnam. Bless their hot little heads, I do not even know what is going on in Michigan except that some fellow up there named for a brand of shaving soap my father used to like has the whole place in a lather.

Even British Prime Minister

Harold Macmillan, who had just finished a series of meetings with Khrushchev, didn't come away bubbling with hope. Instead, he was talking about the "dangerous situation" building up around Berlin.

Eisenhower told his news conference the time will probably come to keep American bombers on a 24-hour air alert "if this situation develops along the lines that it appears to be going."

He didn't say precisely what situation he had in mind but the question he was answering was the question of increasing American defense against the background of continuing tension between East and West.

That wouldn't make it seem Eisenhower is overly optimistic U.S.S.R.

One of the key points in the impending crisis over Berlin has been Khrushchev's demand that the Western allies pull their 10,000 troop out of West Berlin, which lies in the heart of Communist East Germany.

Eisenhower repeated his statement that this country would never abandon its rights and responsibilities in Berlin.

Khrushchev has argued the only way to get East and West Germany united is by letting them arrange it between themselves. That's throwing cold water on the West's contention that the way to unification is through free elections.

Eisenhower again took his stand on the side of free elections.

When he was asked if Macmillan's visit to Khrushchev served a useful purpose, Eisenhower responded: "Now, when you come down to the possibility that there may have been some lessening of this rigidity . . . in the Soviet attitude, that we can't tell until events unfold a little further."

Although Khrushchev has insisted that only a summit meeting can solve anything, Eisenhower said the opposite.

"What I keep deploring is this idea of talking about summit meetings when you cannot see any possibility of a constructive step coming out of it," he said.

President Calm In Face of Crisis

They may quibble and pout in the London press about some feeling of hurt pride or envy supposed to exist here concerning possible assumption of world "leadership" by Prime Minister Macmillan. They may worry in Paris whether enough attention is being paid to Gen. DeGaulle. These are petty matters. For the simply phrased, dispassionate comment by President Eisenhower gives the only answer — that the United States, whether or not it likes the role, has been involuntarily placed in a position of leadership because of her financial resources and military strength in the free world.

Despite the sniping from the partisans in this country, Mr. Eisenhower is exercising leadership in a masterful manner. History will record some day that he kept his head amidst the hysterical and the politically ambitious voices all around him and steered America through a dangerous crisis because along with an exhibition of courage, he used ordinary common sense.

The President has said he wouldn't yield an inch on the Berlin crisis, and he hasn't. The President says American armed forces are adequate for the task — and he stakes his reputation on it as one who served in the post of Supreme Commander of the Allied Armies in Europe during World War II. He couldn't depend on guesses then and he isn't depending on them now.

MR. EISENHOWER has been accused of being more interested in budget balancing than in national safety — a foolish, partisan and silly charge. He answered bluntly at his news conference this week that, even if the federal government were operating at a surplus, he wouldn't spend more than is currently being recommended in the budget for the armed forces. Instead, he would use that surplus for such things as improving education.

The President might have gone further. He might have said that a deliberate effort is under way to unbalance the budget not so much to add appropriations for national defense as to break down the whole bulwark of government finance so that almost everything for which special interests want to spend money will have a clearer field. Once the budget is unbalanced, the argument would be heard that to add a billion or two more to the deficit will not do any harm.

But it was in dealing with the possibility of a ground war, instead of a nuclear war, that President Eisenhower repeated his statement that this country would never abandon its rights and responsibilities in Berlin.

Khrushchev has argued the only way to get East and West Germany united is by letting them arrange it between themselves. That's throwing cold water on the West's contention that the way to unification is through free elections.

Eisenhower again took his stand on the side of free elections.

When he was asked if Macmillan's visit to Khrushchev served a useful purpose, Eisenhower responded: "Now, when you come down to the possibility that there may have been some lessening of this rigidity . . . in the Soviet attitude, that we can't tell until events unfold a little further."

Although Khrushchev has insisted that only a summit meeting can solve anything, Eisenhower said the opposite.

"What I keep deploring is this idea of talking about summit meetings when you cannot see any possibility of a constructive step coming out of it," he said.

THE REASONS for such a limitation are historical, psychological, and physical:

The Roman Republic, whose laws and traditions were admired for many centuries after the Caesars destroyed it, was zealous about preventing a chief of state from retaining his power too long.

It was provided that whenever a head of state should, because of war or other peril, become a dictator, how power should be limited strictly to the emergency. This fear of continued power no doubt was based upon the same consideration of the dangers of personal power held by the founders of the American republic.

It is true, as was argued in 1940 and 1941, that Washington did not give this danger as his reason for establishing the two-term tradition. But the fact is that he did retire after eight years, just as he relinquished his military power at the conclusion of Revolutionary hostilities earlier.

Jefferson was more specific. He deplored the failure of the Constitution to prohibit a third term and argued cogently for the limitation by custom and tradition. Jackson was equally positive, recommending in six of his eight messages a constitutional amendment limiting a president to one term of four or six years.

SUCH OPINIONS of men acquainted with the ways of power with human beings were based on what we now call psychological considerations. Power is a heady narcotic. The more power vested in a man, the more his mind will be closed to the healthy atmosphere of reality. He sees few who are either not subject to his will dent Eisenhower gave at his news conference Wednesday an impressive example of statesmanship. This is what really makes America so strong in the eyes of clear-thinking people everywhere.

THE PRESIDENT has been urged to increase the ground forces because of the possibility that the crisis in Berlin might lead to a ground war. But he declined to make this an excuse for augmenting the budget for ground troops.

In fact, he issued what must certainly be viewed in Moscow as a stern warning when he remarked that he did not intend to see the Allies fight a ground war in Europe. He left the implication that the use of nuclear weapons would be seriously considered.

This is laying it on the line to Moscow, where there should not be the slightest doubt now that America is in earnest about resisting any attempt to force Western troops out of Berlin.

Mr. Eisenhower says that the West doesn't intend to start any war and that only if the Soviets start pushing Western troops out of their positions, or start denying them access to West Berlin, will there be any force used in defense.

But even as he utters these unmistakable words of warning, the President urges people not to get hysterical. He doesn't want to see any general mobilization measures taken. They are unnecessary for many reasons, not the least of which is the needless excitement they induce.

Mr. Eisenhower knows that our big bombers can be alerted in a matter of minutes at bases overseas as well as in this country and that nuclear weapons have already been distributed in key spots around the globe. He knows our short-range missiles are available in certain places.

NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV may hem and haw and even hedge on his threats of war, but the fact remains that, as long as the President of the United States — leader of the free world and commander of the most powerful armed forces the West has ever assembled — stands firm, the Soviets will not take a chance on war.

As for increases in the military budget, sponsored to some extent by politicians and to some degree by military men dedicated to a particular type of warfare, these will not be necessary unless big war actually comes.

Mr. Eisenhower says significantly that the American people must learn to live in a long period of tension. To unbalance the budget unnecessarily can weaken the national economy and give the enemy a victory without firing a shot. The American people should be grateful that there's a steady hand at the helm of our ship of state today.

Why a Two-Term Limit?

By RAYMOND MOLEY

I can see no reason, except making publicity, why former President Truman and others are talking about repealing the 22nd Amendment to the Constitution, which limits a president to two terms. Perhaps such a discussion is wholly political and academic. But since memories are short, it may well be useful to review some of the reasons entertained by responsible people who, through the ponderous process of amendment, were able to get the limitation through Congress and the states.

THE REASONS for such a limitation are historical, psychological, and physical:

The Roman Republic, whose laws and traditions were admired for many centuries after the Caesars destroyed it, was zealous about preventing a chief of state from retaining his power too long.

It was provided that whenever a head of state should, because of war or other peril, become a dictator, how power should be limited strictly to the emergency. This fear of continued power no doubt was based upon the same consideration of the dangers of personal power held by the founders of the American republic.

It is true, as was argued in 1940 and 1941, that Washington did not give this danger as his reason for establishing the two-term tradition. But the fact is that he did retire after eight years, just as he relinquished his military power at the conclusion of Revolutionary hostilities earlier.

Jefferson was more specific. He deplored the failure of the Constitution to prohibit a third term and argued cogently for the limitation by custom and tradition. Jackson was equally positive, recommending in six of his eight messages a constitutional amendment limiting a president to one term of four or six years.

SUCH OPINIONS of men acquainted with the ways of power with human beings were based on what we now call psychological considerations. Power is a heady narcotic. The more power vested in a man, the more his mind will be closed to the healthy atmosphere of reality. He sees few who are either not subject to his will or who do not want to gain something by flattery.

Gradually he identifies his wishes with the will of the people. Finally, he believes that whatever he says is true. Because of this human frailty, the principle of a government of laws, not man, was established and constitutions were made.

Napoleon and Hitler, ignoring the fact of weather and the advice of their intimates, destroyed themselves in Russia. The mania is a failure of judgment not unlike insanity.

Increasingly, the presidents of the United States have gathered more power to themselves. They have more to spend, more to command and supervise, more honors to bestow, more flunkies and more flatterers. Government burgoons beyond any dreams of the past.

THIS MEANS more pressure upon them. More drain on their physical being. Surely, the experience of Presidents Roosevelt and Eisenhower, with the limitations of their physical resources, should teach this lesson to all of us.

The increasing physical drain on presidents as the generations pass is revealed in some figures.

The presidents before Lincoln lived an average of 75 years. They survived the presidency an average of 12 years. Since Lincoln, the average age at death has dropped to 62. The years remaining after leaving office is now six. Meanwhile, as actuarial tables tell us, the average for us all is years greater.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

For 45 minutes one day recently, Mr. Labor himself, George Meany, tried to collect a political debt. He had dropped into the office of

Victor Riesel

Mr. Senate himself, Lyndon B. Johnson, a good friend who said he wished he could pay that debt piled up during the Democratic-labor coalition campaigns of last fall. But the report is that Senate Leader Johnson told the AFL-CIO chief that despite all reports this is not a "labor Congress."

What Sen. Johnson reportedly said is that a counting of noses in Congress shows that in a showdown fight labor does not have a majority even though the Democrats have terrific strength. Labor matters are a little better in the Senate. But the unions will have to realize that the House of Representatives is not a home. Most of the new Democrats are from suburban and rural areas. And they are not especially eager to vote labor's way.

The report is that Sen. Johnson and House Leader Sam Rayburn do not believe that they can put over labor's program. They do not believe that all their prestige, their own horse-trading ability and the pro-labor bloc are enough for them to deliver.

IT IS REPORTED that they be-

Assembly Approves Punishment for Pupils

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — School teachers be free to use corporal punishment on pupils?

Yes, the Assembly said, approving, 100-43, a bill that would prevent school boards from adopting any policy that would bar teachers from using "reasonable force" to discipline unruly pupils.

The state penal law prohibits criminal prosecution of teachers who exercise reasonable force. However, local boards of education, including the New York City board, have adopted rules against corporal punishment.

The bill needs Senate approval and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's signature to become law.

JURY IS DISMISSED

LISBON — A jury in a $25,000 personal injury suit started Monday in Common Pleas Court was dismissed by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard at 10:30 a.m. after the members deadlocked on a verdict at six and six.

Lois Bingham of Leetonia RD sued James Hartman of Negley as a result of injuries received in a traffic mishap. She was a passenger in Hartman's car. She claimed Hartman was driving recklessly when the mishap occurred. The trial was completed Wednesday morning. The jury Wednesday noon. The jury deliberated three and a half hours on Wednesday and one and one-half hours Thursday.

lieve that the labor people have not counted noses but have simply taken for granted official Democratic strength as official labor strength. Whether or not Mr. Meany believes this, only the practical Mr. Meany knows.

But the fact is that labor suddenly is discovering that it is a junior partner in many parts of the land—and plans to do something about it come the next campaign. That's as plain as the noses on the poker faces of the congressmen it counted in the House of Representatives.

A tabulation of the districts which elect conservatives, regardless of which party wins, shows that the non-labor bloc has a 40, perhaps 50 vote starting strength. It is into those rural and suburban areas that labor will send its vote-getting machine in the future.

During the counting of noses, labor's political leaders recently found that there were exactly 18 ex-labor officials elected to the House last year.

AMONG THEM are former leaders of the bricklayers, electrical workers, milk wagon drivers, news media unions, oil workers, railroad trainmen and clerks, steelworkers and stage hands.

They are the core of a powerful labor bloc in Congress—but what Lyndon B. Johnson of Johnson City, Tex., appeared to be saying is that a powerful bloc is far from a powerful majority.

Mr. Meany went to Mr. Johnson's office to discuss the proposed anti-racketeering bills. Mr. Johnson had promised labor that there would be a section—now known as Title 6—in this year's bill, just as there was in the one which passed the Senate 88-1 in 1958.

This section has two items in it which are "musts" to labor. One would make it mandatory for a building and construction trades worker to join a union after seven days. The current law has it after 30 days.

The other clause would give the construction unions the right to sign up a contractor before he has hired any workers. Thus the workers would have to join that particular union which got its contract in first.

Mr. Johnson had promised to deliver this. So had his fellow Texan, Sam Rayburn. Mr. Meany told Mr. Johnson that labor wants Title 6 in the law. The AFL-CIO leader was polite and friendly but firm. That's what labor wants. It had been promised.

MEANY POINTED out that labor is backing the anti-racket bill—which for the first time would really give the government the right, though slight, to regulate some internal union affairs. For example, the bill would set the length of terms to be held by union officials.

The report is that Meany, talking practical politics, said that without the sweetening Title 6, it would be difficult to get labor to back the bill. And that the unions would fight it and it might be killed and there would be no law.

It was then that Mr. Johnson pointed out that labor does not have the power, even in the Democratic Congress, to stop the law with or without Title 6. And he thought that Title 6 would be pulled out.

When the noses are counted, we'll know lots more than whether or not we'll have a reform law.

Columbus Papers to Publish Again as 15-Day Strike Ends

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The roar of the presses—music to the ear in a city that has been without its regular newspapers for two weeks—will be heard here once again.

The presses are expected to start rolling tomorrow night, and the Columbus Dispatch and Citizen will make their first appearance since a strike crippled publication 15 days ago.

The Ohio State Journal, which does not have a Sunday edition, will publish Monday morning.

The strike by about 70 pressmen ended Thursday night with ratification of a new contract.

The settlement was reached Thursday by the publishers and Columbus Web Pressmen's Union, Local 15. The local's president said the vote to ratify the agreement was 40-26.

Negotiations broke off Feb. 25 after 11 weeks of unsuccessful bargaining. Pressmen struck the following night. Negotiations resumed March 5.

Federal mediators said the new 26-month contract, which replaces one that expired Dec. 31, provides the same wage package the publishers offered at the outset.

Pressmen will receive a general increase, retroactive to Jan. 1, of $4 per week for the first year of the contract; an additional $2 weekly starting Jan. 1, and another $2, starting July 1, 1960.

Under the old agreement, pressmen made $118.18 a week for a 37½-hour day shift, and $123.18 for a 35-hour night shift.

In the new contract, they also will receive 22 cents for each straight-time shift worked, which will go toward insurance premiums. It figures to $1.10 a man for a five-day week.

The major stumbling block toward agreement was the union's demand for time-and-a-half pay after five hours of work Saturday night. The publishers were successful in attempts to retain the old system: Time-and-a-half for the first hour after 6½ hours work, and double time after that.

However, the union won an extra $1 bonus for Saturday night work. Next Jan. 1, it will be added to the 50-cent bonus they now receive.

Last Saturday, the American Newspaper Guild's Local 13 began printing a daily newspaper managed by Guild newsmen laid off from the Citizen. It dies with the strike's end.

Reappraisal Procedure Will Be Discussed

Columbiana County Auditor Kenneth Bell said today he has received several complaints from property owners with reference to a reappraisal now being conducted of industrial and commercial properties.

The auditor said a contract was signed Sept. 10, 1958, by J. J. Vorn, former auditor, with the Cole Loyer and Trumbull Appraisal Co. of Youngstown for industrial and commercial properties only.

Bell said the matter of reappraisal of rural and residential properties is under consideration, and the method of reappraisal will be decided after a conference next week with Ferd Becker of the State Tax Commission.

TWO MANY CALLERS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says too many people are trying to get to see him without first arranging for the visit. He says he hates to turn away unscheduled callers. But they're becoming so numerous, they're infringing on his study and working time, he told newsmen.

BIG EAR FOR LITTLE VOICE — This huge antenna at Goldstone Tracking Station, Calif., followed the Army space probe Pioneer IV more than 400,000 miles into space. The steel dish, 85 feet in diameter, is mounted on a 110-foot tower in a remote section of the Mojave Desert. The antenna's parabolic reflecting surface focuses radio waves to a pickup antenna. Data received is recorded on tape and analyzed. Contact with Pioneer was lost when the 13-pound satellite was 416,000 miles from earth.

While the Berlin crisis will remain the No. 1 item on the agenda of the Anglo-U. S. discussions, Macmillan has stressed that he intends to spell out the reasons for Britain's irritation at recent American trade decisions.

Basically, the four principal U. S. trade moves which have stirred particular opposition in Britain are:

1. The announcement last year of U. S. quotas for the import of lead and zinc and restrictions on oil imports.

2. The rejection of the English Electric Company's bid to furnish equipment at the Greers Ferry, Ark., dam project.

3. The U. S. attitude at the recent Montreal conference on aviation navigational aids of the International Civil Aviation Organization. The conference approved an American navigating system in preference to a British system.

4. U. S. wool tariff quotas, which the British feel work against high-quality cloths in favor of staple cloths.

British worries about all these are based more on a strong feeling of dependence on U. S. economic leadership than on hostility or suspicion.

TWO GET HEARINGS — Two men received hearings Thursday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin on charges of failing to provide for their minor children.

Douglas Reynolds, 32, of Chester, W. Va., was bound over to the April Grand jury for non-support under $1,500 bond, and James Lee Tyson, 27, of Toledo, was given six months in the county jail.

Judge Tobin said both are habitual offenders on this charge.

GRANGE PROGRAM PLANNED — Midway Grange will take the traveling chest to Willow Grove Grange tonight. A lecture program will be held, also.

Storm

New York state, which was hit by a covering up to 18 inches in some places, was lashed by strong winds during the night, especially in eastern areas. Travel in many sections was halted. Six deaths in New York were blamed on the storm.

Similar conditions were reported in many parts of New England, but most roads were open and plane flights were scheduled to resume.

The white covering averaged up to 10 to 12 inches in sections of Pennsylvania and New Jersey and up to 14 inches in western Maryland.

The storm deaths included two lobster fishermen lost in a small boat off Islesford, Maine. Other deaths were reported in Connecticut, Rhode Island, Vermont, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Ohio.

$4 Billion

Eisenhower took note of the congressional arguments for shifting funds from foreign aid into other operations.

"When I hear this program described as a 'give-away' or as 'aid to foreigners at the expense of domestic program,' I wonder what sort of America we would have today—whether any funds would be available for any domestic programs, whether all of our substance would not today be devoted to building a Fortress America—if we had not had such a program," he said.

The President said that dollar for dollar, foreign aid adds more to American security than a far greater expenditure on United States forces. He cited as dividends of the program some 250 strategic Air, Navy and Army bases made available by foreign countries, as well as five million men such countries have mobilized to help curb Soviet aggression.

Russia Second To U. S. — Rejecting the contention that the Soviet has outstripped the United States in military might, Eisenhower called the Soviet Union "the second military and economic power in the world today."

He said Red China, "the other great Communist power," also is demonstrating a ruthless drive for power.

Eisenhower said the next decade will forecast the outcome of the free world struggle against communism.

"The challenge that confronts us is broad and deep—and will remain so for some time," he said.

"Yet our gravest danger is not in these external facts but within ourselves—the possibility that in complacent satisfaction with our present wealth, preoccupation with increasing our own military power, we may fail to recognize the realities around us and to deal with them with the vigor and tenacity their gravity requires."

Eisenhower's foreign aid requests have been cut sharply in past years, and have run into more criticism this year. Democrats dissatisfied with amounts Eisenhower suggested for various domestic programs are working to increase them with cuts in foreign aid.

The new funds Eisenhower is asking for the period starting July 1 would continue into a 13th consecutive year the government's massive military economic programs in 70 friendly countries.

In his January budget message, Eisenhower put the cost of his new foreign aid proposals at $3,990,000, or 12 million less than he asked last year. Congress cut last year's figure by 650 million dollars.

The new program would set aside $1,600,000,000 for military weapons help to allied nations. This would go mainly to Middle East and Asian nations, with only 30 per cent going to European Partners.

An additional 835 million dollars would be earmarked for defense support, or economic assistance needed to shore up the economies of countries carrying big defense burdens in critical areas.

These two defense needs account for 61 per cent of the money asked—a drop of 8 per cent in such spending compared to last year.

GRANGE DANCE SET — There will be a teenage dance at Perry Grange Saturday night with Skeels calling the dances from 8:30 to 11. Boys and girls attending are asked to bring doughnuts.

100 Persons Show Up at Auction Of 96 Cuspidors

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — More than 100 persons, from fur-coated fraus from the suburbs to cloth-coated secretaries on their lunch hour, showed up at the courthouse Thursday for an auction.

The objects of their bidding were 96 cuspidors, fast becoming relics as America turns from the age of the tasting man's chew to the era of the thinking man's filter.

Lucas County officials decided to rid the courthouse of the Micks because of the time maintenance men had to spend emptying them.

Battered brass veterans as old as the 66-year-old courthouse itself and comparatively modern models of stainless steel brought the county $176 in 45 minutes.

Despite the presence of a handful of male buyers, the bidding was less than spirited. The top price was $3.75.

The women were virtually unanimous in their plans for their prizes. They intend to shine them up and use them as planters.

But the pioneer spirit still lives in George Lanzinger, who acquired a steel model for 75 cents. A reporter asked him what he was going to do with it.

"Spit in it," Lanzinger replied.

Spelldown

trict finals at Canton April 24. The winner of that event will compete in the national bee at Washington, D.C.

Yesterday's event lasted more than 45 minutes and consumed 243 words.

Of the last three remaining spellers, Lynn went down on the 225th word "appetite."

Jane and Verna alternately spelled 16 more words before Jane stumbled on "wreath," by adding an "e" at the end.

Other contestants, the words they misspelled and the order in which they went down follow:

Dianne Warrington of Leetonia, "territory."

Jean Stockman of Lisbon, "handkerchief."

Carol Winegard of Columbiana, "capital."

Shirley Keresty of Leetonia, "pajamas."

Kenneth Huk of Columbiana, "alcohol."

John Monahan Jr. of Columbiana, "accept."

Jean and Jane Stockman are twins. They were tied for first place in the bee held at Lisbon Feb. 26.

The pronouncer at last night's event was the Rev. Thomas Hamerton, pastor of the Lisbon Methodist Church.

Judges were Ray Dean, Salem News editor; Art Thomas, editor of the East Liverpool Review; and Ralph Fratila of the News staff.

The News and East Liverpool Review annually sponsor the district spelldowns.

Trip to Columbus Awaits Salem - Akron Central Winner

Akron Unbeaten In 20 Contests

Big Crowd Expected For Regional Final

Salem's Quakers will be battling for one of the richest treasures in Ohio High School basketball Saturday night at 8 when they meet the unbeaten Akron Central Wildcats in the regional finals at the Kent State University fieldhouse.

The winner in tomorrow night's contest advances to Columbus for the state finals March 20-21 along with regional champs from Berea, Toledo and Cincinnati.

The Red and Black will be facing their stiffest and most significant opponent in tournament competition. The Wildcats have posted 20 straight wins without a setback. Last night they won over New Philadelphia 63-55 in the semi-finals to move into the championship fray with the local Quakers.

Central has a tall team. Their starting lineup is composed of Nate Thurmond at 6-7, Billy Sparks at 6-6, Elijah Chatman at 6-4, Jim Jones at 6-2 and Billy Stevens at 5-9.

Salem's starting assignments go to Woody Deitch 6-1, Clyde Marks 6-4, Lou Slaby 6-4, Dave Hunter 5-10 and Dan Krichbaum 5-9.

Akron is averaging 63 points a game to their foes' 40.7. Their win over New Philly by eight points was their closest game of the season. Previously, Kent Roosevelt came within 73-62 of beating Joe Joe Siegfert's undefeated Akron city champs.

Salem's offensive and defensive averages, respectively, are 76.6 to 50.6.

The two teams have met three common opponents. Salem defeated New Philly 89-58 last Jan. 2 and have decisions over Akron St. Vincent 99-51 and Akron East 89-61. Central topped NP 63-55 last night and own a 62-30 win over St. V. and a 66-46 decision over East.

Central doesn't like to run but plays a deliberate offense waiting for a good outside or inside shot. If they miss a shot they have three men 6-4 or over to fight for rebounds.

The Wildcats wore down the Tuscarawas County Quakers last night in this manner much as East Tech did with Salem Dec. 6. Chatman is Akron's top point man with 315 in 20 games while Thurmond has 255, Sparks 200, Jones 168 and Stevens 197.

Salem's top scorer is Deitch with 421 in 23 games while in 24 games Hunter has 376, Slaby 320, Krichbaum 316, Marks 112 and Jim Lehwald 166.

Of Akron's 20 wins, 14 have come from within the city of Akron itself against rival city schools. They beat Kent Roosevelt twice and Columbus East but outside of New Philadelphia the Wildcats have met no keener competition.

Both teams enter the game with 20-game winning streaks. Central is 20-0 on the season while Salem is 23-1 including the last 20 straight. Salem has played Central only once since 1932. That was during the third game of the 1950-51 season when the Quakers were a 76-54 winners.

Thousands of Quaker fans braved the snow and cold last Wednesday and the same enthusiasm is expected tomorrow night in a game which will determine one of the four clubs that will move to the state capital.

Robin Roberts Changed Style To Regain His Effectiveness

By ED NICHOLS
Brush-Moore Special Writer
CLEARWATER, Fla. — The scene has been played a thousand times.

The middle-aged pitcher, puzzled by his ineffectiveness, says, "I'm throwing as hard as I ever was."

The coach nods, reminds the player of the line drives that had been endangering the lives of his teammates and replies: "Sure, you're throwing as hard as ever. But the ball isn't getting up to the hitters as fast. Smarten up. You have to change your style."

DEPENDING on how long and how hard he has been bombed, the pitcher either pounds his fist in the glove and says, "I'll show em," or murmurs, "Maybe you're right."

Don Newcombe of the Cincinnati Redlegs has been murmuring sweet maybes to Manager Mayo Smith lately, and that brings up the subject of Robin Roberts, who has passed through this difficult period and has regained his effectiveness.

But Roberts did it himself, the hard way. The pieces of Roberts mystery of 1957 are still being fitted together by baseball scholars who would rather unravel a baseball diamond whodunit than a Tiffany job any day.

THIS IS ANOTHER piece to the puzzle, courtesy of Whitlow Wyatt, former pitching coach of the Phillies.

As you know, Wyatt is now the pitching instructor of the Milwaukee Braves.

It's no secret that Wyatt and Roberts did not see eye to eye or pitch to pitch on the philosophy of throwing baseballs. So be it—the relationship of coach and player is not precisely the same as teacher and pupil.

Roberts did not seek advice from Wyatt. Indeed he resented advice, interpreting it as a loss of confidence in his ability.

ALL THIS took place during the 1957 season. That's when Roberts lost 22 games, winning only 10. Quite a comedown for a fellow who won 20 games or more six seasons.

Roberts, voted the "National League Comeback Player of 1958," must have done something differently. He hung up a record of 17 wins and 14 losses, and five of those setbacks were by one run, two by 1-0 scores.

So what happened? Wyatt kept the matter of their strained relationship under strictest confidence during '57, but when he moved to Milwaukee he issued some statements whose general tone was that Robby had better wise up.

HE SUGGESTED that Roberts, no longer equipped with a fast ball that jumps, should look for a new pitch. A slider was suggested.

Roberts Resented Wyatt's Suggestions

Roberts resented Wyatt's suggestions by newspaper, a much as he did his unsolicited advice during his season of disaster. Never a talkative one on his rare gifts, the big right hander is still uncommunicative about the subject except in vague terms.

"I'm throwing the same now as I did in 1957," he said. "I did last year, too."

Who's Robby kidding? ANYWAY, Wyatt's observations on the metamorphosis of Roberts can be broken down into several categories:

1. "His control is better. He's getting his slow and breaking stuff on the corners instead of down the middle."

2. "He's changing speeds better. Basically, his fast ball isn't much faster than it was during the terrible 1957 season, although it appears to be more alive, but by changing speeds and getting strikes with his other pitches, his fast ball is more effective."

3. "He may not admit it, but his fast ball isn't what it used to be. Watch how he pitches to the big hitters. Almost every pitch is on the outside part of the plate. The guys go up there trying to pull the ball wind up popping everything in the air."

4. "He's throwing a pitch like a slider. He may not call it that, but it gets the same results. It's a flat curve, which breaks down and is much tougher to hit."

5. "Robby, a proud man, had a stubborn streak in him, and would not listen to anyone back there in 1957. But he's doing everything I urged him to do in 1957."

Comment: It's difficult to believe that Wyatt, in some way, did not have anything to do with the Roberts' comeback of 1958.

Tribe Will Return To Tucson In '60

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—General Manager Frank Lane of the Cleveland Indians announced Thursday that the Tribe will return to Tucson in 1960 for the 14th consecutive year. He squelched a rumor that the Indians would move their training headquarters to Florida next spring.

Sacramento, Calif. — Irish Bobby Samlon, 137½ Sal Francisco, out-pitched Orlando Zulueta, 136½, New York, 10.

Boise, Idaho — George Logan, 197, Boise, knocked out Joe Sullivan, 186, San Francisco, 7.

Lane Says He'll Accept Loes

Plans Confab With Baltimore Manager

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane is ready to take up volatile Billy Loes on his offer to join the Indians.

Unfortunately, Lane cannot deal directly with Loes because Billy is firmly attached—in writing any-way—to the Baltimore Orioles. So Frank is planning to talk the whole thing over with Baltimore General Manager Lee MacPhail.

Loes, who might starve if he had a nickel for every impulse he kept to himself, said Monday he'd like to slip out of the Baltimore scene and join the San Francisco Giants. But, by Wednesday, he had a new ambition. He'd like to go to the Indians, he said, "because they got class over there."

"I saw Billy's ad in the paper," Lane said Thursday, "and I'd be tickled to have him. I know Billy and he's a fine pitcher and a fine young man. I'm sure he'd be happy with us."

Loes, in volunteering to change uniforms, suggested that Jim Piersall, the outfielder Cleveland acquired from Boston during the winter, "might go well in Baltimore."

Piersall, no master of restraint himself, was ready to take a little walk across the ceiling when he read this.

"You can tell Loes we got only one couch left over here," Piersall said. "And tell him if he's going to trade anybody not to mention any names. I don't want to play for Baltimore."

But Lae said Piersall's got nothing to worry about.

"I'm going to renew my efforts with MacPhail to get Billy," Frank said. "However, I might add Piersall is not available."

The Indians tried to deal for Loes earlier this year, but talks stalled when Baltimore asked for shortstop Woody Held.

Kentucky Opens Title Defense

Louisville Opponent In Tourney Opener

By ORLO ROBERGSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Kentucky's Wildcats, seeking an unprecedented fifth championship, open defense of their NCAA basketball title tonight at 16 of the nation's best major college teams begin play in four regional tournaments.

Although Kentucky got into this year's tournament because champion Mississippi State declined to represent the Southeastern Conference, there are those who say Adolph Rupp's crew is capable of going all the way. Mississippi refused to enter because its all white team would have to play against Negroes.

Kentucky is not a great team by comparison with some of Rupp's outfits. But it lost only two of its 25 games and was ranked second to Kansas State in the final Associated Press poll. The team is led by All-America Johnny Cox, only starter from last year's champions.

Kentucky plays Louisville, an at-large selection with a 17-10 record, in the first game of tonight's doubleheader at Evanston, Ill. Michigan State (18-3), champion of the Big Ten, meets Marquette (23-4) in the second.

Kentucky and Michigan State are favored to tangle Saturday night in the Mid-east regional.

Here's how the other three regional tournaments stack up:

East at Charlotte, N.C. — West Virginia (26-4) vs St. Joseph's of Philadelphia (22-3) and Navy (17-5) vs Boston University (19-6).

West Virginia, having overcome its jinx of losing in the preliminary round four straight years, and Navy, which eliminated well-regarded North Carolina, are favored.

Midwest at Lawrence, Kan. — Texas Christian (19-5) vs Cincinnati (23-3) and De Paul (13-9) vs Kansas State (24-1).

Far West at San Francisco Defensive-minded teams take over on the West Coast with Idaho State (20-6) meeting St. Mary's of California (18-5) and California (21-4) taking on Utah (21-5).

The National Invitation Tournament opened in New York's Madison Square Garden Thursday night. Butler continued its rapid end-of-the-season pace, downing Fordham 94-80. St. John's of New York eliminated Villanova 75-67.

There will be no action in the NIT tonight. The first round will be completed Saturday afternoon with the Providence - Manhattan and Denver-New York University doubleheader. Top-seeded Bradley takes on Butler and St. John's meets St. Bonaventure Saturday night. St. Louis and Oklahoma City see action next Tuesday.

At Evansville, Ind., Southwest Missouri State and Evansville won the right to meet in the finals of the NCAA small college division tournament to night, Southwest Missouri State and Evansville won games State 72-59 and Evansville downed North Carolina A&T 110-92 in Thursday night's semifinals.

Tennessee A&I continued to dominate the NAIA tournament at Kansas City. Bidding for a record third straight championship, Tennessee A&I whipped Illinois Normal 131-74 in the quarter-finals Thursday night. In the other games, Southwest Texas State defeated Lenoir Rhyne 80-78; Fort Hays (Kan) State upset West Virginia Wesleyan 98-83, and Pacific Lutheran downed Georgia Teachers 97-65.

Rubber City Team to Face Salem

New Philly Beaten By Akron Central

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—This will be a sad Friday the 13th for some of Ohio's most talented high school basketballers.

Four Class AA and seven Class A quintets are due for defeat tonight in semi-finals of regional tournaments, leaving only eight in each division for Saturday's state tournament qualifiers.

Cleveland St. Joseph, unbeaten Akron Central and undefeated Racine won Thursday night to reach Saturday's payoff round.

St. Joseph, behind 29-27 at the half, staged a last-half flurry to oust Ironton 65-53 in the Class AA regional at Berea. The victors tangle with Cleveland East Tech, defending state champ, in Saturday's finals. St. Joe has a 20-4 record, Ironton bowed out with 16-7.

Akron Central, ahead only 31-29 at the half, outscored new Philadelphia 18-10 in the third session then coasted to a 63-55 win in the Kent Class AA regional. That made it 20 in a row for the Rubber City team which tangles Saturday with Salem (23-1) for a state tournament berth.

In the only Class A action, Racine, down 35-32 going into the final quarter at Athens, rallied for a 45-43 conquest over Maysville of South Zanesville. It was the 26th in a row for Racine. Tonight, at Athens, New Boston (22-0) meets Lynnwood-Jacksontown—and if New Boston is the victor, the pair of unbeaten quintets will go to it Saturday.

Maysville finished with 18-7, and New Philadelphia 17-7.

Unbeaten teams perform tonight in three Class A regionals. Convoys-Union (26-0) goes against Edgerton (22-3) at Lima; alem Local (25-0) meets Pickerington (23-1) at Troy, and New Boston battles Lynnwood-Jacksontown at Athens.

Most interest in Class AA tonight centers around the Middletown (19-4) vs Xenia (22-1) fray at Cincinnati, where the rebuilt Middies, seven-time state champions, make their big bid for a return to the state tournament wars.

Although East Tech and St. Joseph, Saturday's foes at Berea, are both from Cleveland, they have not met this year.

Winners of Saturday night's games will meet here Sunday morning to pick state tourney opponents for the March 20-21 title games at St. John Arena.

Mays Suffers Deep Cut In Leg

Maye Be Forced From Lineup Four Weeks

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer
Hopes of the San Francisco Giants for the 1959 National League pennant may have suffered a serious blow Thursday.

Willie Mays, star centerfielder and hitter, suffered a gash in his right leg that will keep him out of the lineup for at least "three or four weeks."

Mays received a bone-deep gash that required 35 stitches sliding into home plate in the sixth inning of an exhibition game against the Boston Red Sox at Scottsdale, Ariz. He said he ripped his leg against the shin guard of Sammy White, Red Sox catcher.

With Mays out of the game the Red Sox scored five runs in the eighth — four of them unearned — off Paul Giel for a 7-4 victory, their fifth straight.

Pitchers Herb Score and Mike Garcia of Cleveland, both plagued by injuries last year, saw action in the Indians' 6-5, 10-inning victory over the Chicago Cubs at Tucson.

Score, making his second appearance, pitched the first three innings and held Chicago hitless. Garcia was touched for five runs and nine hits in the next two innings.

Carroll Hardy's single in the 10th drove in the winning run for Cleveland. Pitcher Moe Drabowsky of the Cubs injured his right thumb when he fouled off an inside pitch. He is expected to be sidelined about six weeks.

Sports Sketches

By GORDON ARNDT

The sale of basketball tournament tickets in Salem warrants a few drastic changes.

Next season tourney ducats should be sold at the high school and not at the two downtown outlets. My hat is off to the two men in the pair of State St. ticket centers for doing a job without compensation besides being placed in a position to be verbally crucified.

It is not their fault if only 250 tickets were allocated to each place for each game. Fans went crazy over tickets Thursday morning for tomorrow night's game. Tickets left over from last night's orders placed via the phone were quickly taken up this morning.

People stood in the snow and cold outside the outlets Thursday morning even before they opened. Some people were naturally disappointed when they got left out. The outlets did not play favorites or operate a catering service. It was first come and first serve. One outlet received orders for 183 tickets within 20 minutes after the Lincoln game.

It's not fair for the outlets to be blamed. The trouble rests elsewhere.

THERE ARE too many people who have never seen a regular season game this year but want to order 15 and 20 tourney tickets. My suggestions are as follows which I imagine comply with the thinking of many.

There should be a specific amount of tickets allotted for students, parents of the players and the faculty. Next comes the season ticket holders. They should get first preference over the "once-in-a-while" fans. There should be a limit of say six to a customer.

The solution to the problem is to have tourney tickets sold through the regular windows at the high school. The outlets would not get blasted and it would be fair to all.

The school could set up its own limit with times for selling the tickets. There should be a list of regular season ticket holders. They get first choice. If they don't pick up their tourney tickets by a certain time then their allocation is open to those who stand in line for them.

IF I WERE a downtown merchant I wouldn't let ticket sales stand in the way of other business. Too many people have threatened the outlets with no further business just because they didn't get a ticket. This would be eliminated by selling the tickets at the high school.

Another consideration is that Salem High officials should contact the heads of the tourney sites and make sure there are enough tickets for this basketball mad town. That fiasco at the South Field House March 7 was ridiculous. Even with a ticket you were out of luck. I even had trouble getting in the place 90 minutes before the game and had to battle my way to the press bench let alone even getting in the overcrowded place.

Tourney managers should work out more comprehensive plans for the allocation of tickets.

It's nine months yet to the start of the 1959-60 season but not any too early for all responsible people to start working on the things mentioned above.

The appearance of Buddy "Nature Boy" Rogers will highlight Frank Julian's professional wrestling card to be presented at the Hi-Neighbor Barn March 24, beginning at 8 p.m.

Rogers, one of the wrestling world's most colorful performers, will take on Chief White Owl.

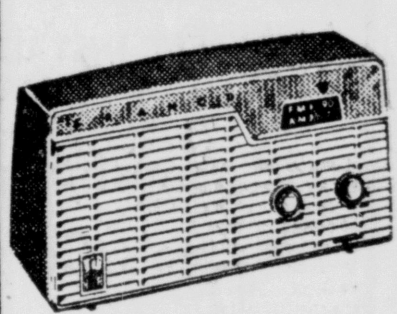

Others on the card are Babbs Wingos and Ethel Johnson, a pair of Negro female battlers, who will meet plus another match between Chief Indian Joe and Oskey Verdu.

Tickets are on sale at Fishers and Gordon Scotts.

Q—In the War Between the States, what was the first Union victory of any consequence?
A — The Battle of Phillippi, which also marked the war's entry into what is now the state of West Virginia.

Mayor's Court Income During February Amounts to $903.75

COLUMBIANA — Mayor's court actions and other official functions of the office brought $903.75 into the village treasury in February, the monthly report of Mayor E. L. Calvin shows.

The total included $630.90 as the town's 55 per cent share of State Highway Patrol cases filed locally, $112 from Mayor's Court fines, forfeitures and costs, $75 as all costs in State Patrol fines, $24 from ticket book and parking meter fines, $7.50 from the issuing of two building permits, $2 from the sale of a village map and 35 cents for a phone charge.

Columbiana High band and chorus travels to Massillon Saturday to compete in the District 8 contest sponsored by the Ohio Music Education Association. Nominating of officers for the Ladies Auxiliary of the FOE will be held Tuesday evening at 8 in the hall. A card party will follow the meeting.

A total of 144 local volunteers were scheduled to donate blood during the Red Cross Bloodmobile visit Wednesday but sickness cut the amount to 110 pints. The quota was 125 pints.

Two Massillon Men Face Robbery Trial

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Donald R. Anderson, 26, and Robert Smith, 24, both of Massillon, go on trial March 23 and 25, respectively, charged with an armed robbery which they say a third man plotted.

Caesar Kirkland, 34, also of Massillon, will be sentenced Monday after being convicted by a jury Thursday for his part in the $2,600 holdup of Barney Susi's Bar and Grill here Sept. 26. Anderson and Smith, accused of actually staging the robbery, testified that Kirkland was the ringleader.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Jan. 21 flood caused $796,980 in damages to city-owned property in Columbus, Finance Director M. D. Portman said Thursday. ## CHILDREN OF THE BIBLE

by Patrick and Garrison

SAMSON

"And the woman bare a son, and called his name Samson: and the child grew, and the Lord blessed him."

— Judges 13:24

When an angel of the Lord appeared to Samson's mother before the child's birth, he told her that she and her husband, Manoah, should rear the boy as a Nazirite. This meant that his life was dedicated to God, even before he was born. The same kind of vow was made by the mothers of Samuel and John the Baptist.

As a Nazirite, Samson was forbidden to cut his hair or to drink wine or strong drink of any kind. Neither was he allowed to eat grapes or raisins; or to come near a dead body.

The Bible tells us little about his boyhood, except that he developed great strength. Once, as he accompanied his parents on a journey to the land of the Philistines, a lion threatened them from a roadside thicket. Samson killed the beast with his bare hands.

There are a number of beautiful stories and legends about Samson's youth that are not supported by Scriptural texts. Here is one of them:

"Samson had a boyhood friend, a youth who loved and admired Samson, but did not understand his inner, spiritual depth.

"Upon a walking-path one night, he came upon Samson watching the birth of a flower. Samson silenced his greeting and invited him to squat alongside of him so that both could enjoy the experience.

"The moon was full and shed a bright light over the two boys. They saw the night-flower tremble in awakening. Then the dewy petals unfurled, gently releasing the flower's incense into the still, cool air.

"Samson spoke softly: 'This is like us, reaching for what we may not find, but knowing that to reach is the need of living. This is man giving his wealth of life into the night shadows.

"Where is the answer to our yearning? Is it to be found in our hidden thoughts, that make us an enemy to ourselves as to others?"

"His friend studied his face in the moonlight. After a moment, he said: 'As I see it, man is an animal. He kills or is killed. He trusts but to be devoured. Who is the winner in man's wars to survive. Name one man, Samson, whom you can trust completely, and return with your life.'

"'Yourself,' Samson answered simply. 'I do not question the man you describe. But there is in the earth that of which I speak. It is trust and truth. We have to reach for it.'

"And this search for truth that Samson knew remained with him in the days that followed, when he met betrayal and persecution."

CINCINNATI (AP) — Want to know how to win those guessing contests—how many beans in a jar, etc.?

Eleven-year-old Julia Colan of suburban Norwood has a formula. Julia guessed within six ounces the correct weight of a big side of beef displayed here.

How?

"I took my age, 11, and put my grade in school in the middle," she said. "Then I subtracted the six from the 11 to get the ounces."

Her estimate: 161 pounds, 5 ounces.

Simple, no?

Julia won 161 pounds, 11 ounces of beef.
